- A. Core Values: How do we want to be thought of? What are my core values?

We want to be thought of as people who can help you make a decision. Our core values involve really trying to understand what the person's needs and wants, trying to really listen to the person who needs help deciding so that we can make sure we're as precise as possible. Our primary goal is to make sure you have what you need to get started with your project when you leave. Secondary objectives would be having a basic understanding of what was chosen for you.

- B. Motivation: What do we love? What do we fear?
